Israel Declares Cease Fire In Southern Lebanon

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel declared a cease-fire in southern Lebanon today effective at 6 p.m. — 11 a.m. EST.

"The minister of defense has instructed the chief of the general staff to effect a cease-fire along the entire front in Lebanon as of 1800 hours today," said the brief army spokesman's announcement. "As from that hour the Israeli defense forces will maintain a cease-fire."

The announcement came after a day of scattered shooting between Israeli forces and Palestinian guerrillas around Tyre. But the shooting had died down from previous days.

Seven days ago Israel launched an air, land and sea attack to clear Palestinian guerrillas from the area along its northern border. The operation followed a Palestinian terrorist attack in Israel which killed 35 Israelis.

The Israeli announcement came as Prime Minister Menachem Begin was meeting with President Carter in Washington and as the United Nations tried to work out details of a U.N. peacekeeping force to go into southern Lebanon.

There was no immediate indication if Israel had taken a unilateral action in announcing the cease-fire and whether the Palestine Liberation Organization would go along with an end to hostilities.

The Israeli army claimed to control all of southern Lebanon up to the Litani River, except for a small area around the port city of Tyre.

A token U.N. peacekeeping force was waiting to move in when fighting stopped, but U.N. officials in New York said it could be "weeks or months" before Israel heeded the Security Council's demand to withdraw its troops from Lebanese territory.

The Israeli army reported shelling guerrilla positions but said the level of firing had dropped.

Independent observers in Lebanon said the south was comparatively quiet after intensive Israeli bombardment of Tyre and other guerrilla fallback positions north and south of the Litani on Monday night.

A Palestinian communique issued in Beirut said Israel made two air strikes during the night against guerrilla positions near Tyre and in the Arkoub region, 50 miles to the west in the foothills of Mount Hermon.

Defense Minister Ezer Weisman told a news conference Israel decided not to occupy Tyre, the Palestinians' chief supply port 12 miles north of the Israeli-Lebanese border, "for reasons of population and to avoid more destruction."

Associated Press correspondent Aly Mahmoud reported from Tyre that the guerrillas remained in tenuous control of a nine-mile coastal strip, stretching from the Rashidieh refugee camp south of Tyre to the Litani, 15 miles north of the border.

"We don't have the weapons they have. We are out-numbered," Mahoud Labadi of the Palestine Liberation Organization said.

Guerrilla fighters in Tyre cursed their Arab and Soviet backers for failing to come to their aid. "Tell our treacherous Arab leaders that we wish our guns were turned on them rather than on Israel," one guerrilla shouted from a trench.

Less than 300 beleaguered guerrilla fighters were holding on to the city and neighboring Palestinian refugee camps.

Israeli troops and tanks seized the approaches to the crusader city from the south, east and northeast. The Israeli navy blockaded the harbor and only the coastal highway to Beirut was still open.

The bulk of the 10,000 guerrillas retreated to fallback positions north of the Litani when the estimated 15,000-25,000 Israeli invaders launched their final offensive over the weekend.

Israel's military chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur, said the escape corridor to the north and the Kasbiya Bridge over the river were left open "so the people of Tyre won't feel encircled."

The Israeli Cabinet declared Israel would not withdraw from southern Lebanon until it received assurances that the area "will no longer serve as a base for the terrorists and their murderous attacks." Gur said that to be effective, the U.N. peacekeeping unit must keep guerrillas away from the Litani River, Tyre and the border areas.

Lt. Governor Vetos Measure

Stovall Calls ERA Vote 'Dubious Maneuver'

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Two years ago, Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall fought successfully to prevent Kentucky's Legislature from withdrawing the state's 1972 ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

"How is it going to look for Kentucky, with a woman lieutenant governor, to take this slap at women?" Mrs. Stovall asked at the time.

This year, Mrs. Stovall, an ardent advocate of women's rights, could not prevent the General Assembly from approving a rescission resolution. So, in her capacity as acting governor, she did the next best thing. She vetoed it.

"Through a maze of the most dubious parliamentary maneuvers, the Legislature allowed itself to be used by the misguided and plunge itself into action which I consider regrettable," Mrs. Stovall said in her veto message Monday.

The 58-year-old Mrs. Stovall came under immediate criticism from ERA opponents, who said they would challenge the action in court. They also threatened her with political retribution.

But Mrs. Stovall, who announced her candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1979 by saying "I'll run if I'm alive," said she did not fear any backlash from ERA opponents.

"I don't want to be governor if I can't stand up and do what is honest and true," she said. "The people of Kentucky know what they want in the governor's chair."

The governor's chair is one of the few in which Mrs. Stovall has not yet sat. Beginning in 1949, she served three terms in the state House, three terms as secretary of state and two terms as state treasurer before her election to the lieutenant governorship in 1975. She has never lost a race for state office.

A native of Munfordville in Hart County, Mrs. Stovall went to work as a young woman at the Brown-Williamson Tobacco Corp. in Louisville, where she developed strong ties with organized labor. For 11 years, she served as secretary for Local 185 of the Tobacco Workers International Union. She also held a high post with the Kentucky Federation of Labor.

In the realm of national politics, Mrs. Stovall was always an enthusiastic supporter of the late Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

For several years, Mrs. Stovall has had a slight speech impediment because of a stroke. Her health was an underlying issue in her race for lieutenant governor.

However, the illness has not hampered Mrs. Stovall's crusade on behalf of the ERA.

"We have a lot of laws protecting women's rights... state laws," she once said. "But... without ERA, without that constitutional guarantee, those statutes can be repealed just as easily as they were passed. With ERA, they can't be repealed. We'll have constitutional guarantee of protection."

Few Tears Are Shed Over Inspection Bill

SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)

Few tears apparently are being shed over the demise of Kentucky's mandatory annual automobile inspection program, except perhaps by the owners of some of the 3,000 inspection stations and 37 state employees involved in its supervision.

"The Legislature spoke, that's what they wanted and we will adhere to their wishes," said O.B. Arnold, director of the Bureau of Vehicle Regulation in the state Department of Transportation. Arnold declined to comment Monday on how he, personally, is reacting to the phaseout of inspections. The bill to which the relevant amendment was attached takes effect in mid June.

The drive to eliminate inspections peaked in the final days of the 1978 session when representatives of the Kentucky Gasoline Dealers Association arrived at the Capitol to demand a $5-fee for the annual inspections instead of the current $2.

They could not find a legislator who would sponsor such a bill, but they found a sympathetic ear in Gov. Julian Carroll, who agreed to push for a voluntary inspection program at the higher fee.

The Legislature wrecked the delicately arrived-at compromise by simply wiping out the decade-old inspection program.

"We're sitting here trying to find out what's been done," Arnold said. But there is little doubt about the effect of the amendment. Archie Craft, who heads the division of inspections, probably will stay on, but an undetermined number of division employees will have to look for new jobs.

Arnold said the division will not be completely obliterated since it also has been handling automobile dealer licenses.

Meanwhile, he said, the division will continue to supervise inspections, even

Boy Scout Troop

To Conduct Old Newspaper Drive

Boy Scout Troop No. 77 will hold its annual old Newspaper Drive Saturday, March 25.

The Newspaper Drive is both a fund-raising and conservation activity for the troop, according to Senior Patrol Leader, Joe Harmon.

The leader said "conservation plays a big role in the scouting program and is a vital part of the Outdoor Code, which is the scouting attitude toward nature and the out-of-doors; that the collection of papers helps the scouts and public to be more aware of saving our nation's natural resources."

Persons who have papers should call 753-3824 and give their name, address, and location of the papers. "Only newspapers can be taken, no magazines, booklets, etc.," Harmon said.

VIEW PROJECT EXHIBITS — Some persons interested in Kentucky Department of Transportation's proposed four-laning of 12th Street in Murray went to Murray City Hall today to view DOT exhibits relating to the project. Robert Wells, left, with DOT's Paducah office, explains DOT plans to Nix Crawford, right, and Charles Richardson, center. Crawford said he owns property on South 12th and Richardson lives on West Main and could be affected by the project. A public hearing on the proposal is set 7 p.m. Wednesday in the special education building on the Murray State University Campus.

Miners Give Few Hints On How They'll Vote

By The Associated Press

Rank-and-file members of the United Mine Workers are giving few hints on how they will vote on the coal industry's latest proposal to end the 106-day nationwide coal strike.

Local UMW leaders began presenting the proposed 26-page contract to members Monday. All miners were to have seen the contract by Wednesday; voting starts Friday.

The mood at Monday's meetings was hard to measure.

"There were a lot less questions. They listened a lot better," said Robert Phillips, an officer of Local 1405 in Big Stone Gap, Va., comparing reaction with that surrounding the last contract proposal, which was resoundingly defeated.

But the situation was different in Sesser, Ill., where Russell Phillips read the proposal to 250 UMW members.

"They asked more questions on this one than the last one," said Phillips. The UMW has rejected two offers, from the industry, the first of which never got beyond the bargaining council, and miners have defied a federal Taft-Hartley back-to-work order that a federal judge in Washington last Friday refused to renew.

In an interview with The Associated Press in Washington Monday, UMW President Arnold Miller said "it looks a lot better" for ratification this time. He said UMW district leaders "are explaining it better than last time."

Some local leaders agreed with Miller that the new proposal stands a

Man Charged In 12 Count Arrest

Michael J. McDonald, 20, described by a Murray Police Department spokesman as a transient, is in Callaway County Jail today in lieu of bond charged with a series of burglaries in and near Murray during the past weeks.

Murray Police arrested the man Monday afternoon.

According to the police spokesman, McDonald is charged with 12 counts of burglary in connection with break-ins at Callaway County High School and Callaway County Board of Education offices, the First Presbyterian Church in Murray, Robertson, Carter and Murray Middle schools in Murray.

The man is charged in connection with three burglaries at the high school and two at the board of education offices, three at the First Presbyterian Church, two at Robertson School, one at Carter and one at Murray Middle.

The Murray Police spokesman said most items reported missing in the burglaries were recovered with the McDonald arrest. Police recovered what the police spokesman said was "general merchandise like calculators, radios and tape players."

All the burglaries were reported to authorities within the past month. McDonald's arrest came after a continuing investigation by Murray Police.

A spokesman for Callaway County district Court said McDonald was in jail today awaiting an appearance before Callaway County District Judge Sid Easley.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR WEDNESDAY,
MARCH 22, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) ♈
A new light thrown upon certain situations should prime you for fine advancement in the office. Rouse yourself to work for superlative attainment.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) ♉
Exercise extreme caution in financial matters. Due to having insufficient data, there could be danger in signing contracts, especially.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) ♊
A good period for branching out into new fields if your regular activities allow you the time. Intellectual interests especially favored.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) ♋
Bonuses indicated from past efforts. These should give you new incentive, perhaps a whole new approach to further successes. Long-range plans favored.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) ♌
You may encounter what seems to be undue opposition. Take whatever steps are necessary to overcome it, but do not mistake honest discussion for hostility.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) ♍
Some intrigue likely in occupational circles. YOU remain discreet and keep involvement to a minimum.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) ♎
A good day for occupational interests. Outlook especially favorable if you are seeking favors from superiors.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) ♏
Not a prime period for trying to push pet schemes; for taking the initiative generally. Concentrate on routine activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ♐
As with Scorpio, you may not be in the best position to take action on a cherished project just now, but that needn't deter you from keeping your plans in mind.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) ♑
Good stellar influences. Especially favored: real estate interests, home improvements, family concerns and social activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) ♒
With further thought, you now see possibilities in hitherto barren areas of achievement so, if you're in a mood to take a chance, go ahead. Success likely.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) ♓
Your impulse to "get going" should be checked until associates are ready to join you. Forcing matters will only lead to disillusion.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely energetic person, have a lively imagination and are always ready for action. You are keen of perception, a born organizer and have a good business head. You are also interested in the arts, but may eschew them as a career in favor of more profitable avenues to success. However, you could find in painting or music, especially, an excellent outlet for your emotions and excess energies. Traits to curb: impetuosity, overaggressiveness. Birthdate of: Anthony Van Dyck, Flemish painter; James Brown, actor; Stephen Sondheim, lyricist.

Hiking Requires Careful Planning

Q: Mr. B. C. writes for information about preparing for hikes, some of which will take him into mountainous regions.

A: Suggestions written by Bill McCarthy in a publication of the University of Washington Health Sciences Center earlier this year may prove helpful. He quotes a research associate at the University, Ms. Jean Syrotuck, who cautions that persons who choose to "take on mother nature in her back yard" should start off a trip into the wilderness well clothed, well fed and well rested.

Among the essentials to carry along, according to Ms. Syrotuck, are extra clothing and food, a compass, flashlight, matches, firestarter, sunglasses and a first-aid kit.

Ms. Syrotuck offers the following advice:

- Cold hands and feet call for more clothing. Stop and put it on.

- She adds, "Slight weariness or occasional clumsiness means one is low on fuel and should stop and eat something right away."

- If you are going in rough country or a wilderness, hike in a party of at least four persons. Don't go alone.

- Prepare your trip. It is wise to study maps ahead of time and use them as you hike. Topographic maps may be available through the U.S. Forest Service.

- Call the U.S. Weather Service to get a weather report of the trip area before starting your hike. Sudden, severe changes are often known ahead of time. Postpone a hike rather than take a chance if weather may be adverse.

- Inform relatives or friends of your plans - where you are going, when you are returning, the names and addresses of all persons in your party, and the type, color and license number of the vehicle you plan to use, if any.

- After you are under way, stick to your original hike plan and schedule. If you must change your plan, make every effort to notify a responsible party of the change.

- If you get lost, stay put and avoid wasting your energy and supplies. Seek shelter and stay dry. A fire will help you to stay warm, and its smoke may serve as a signal. Adequate warmth and water are more essential than food.

- It is better to try to get your bearings by daylight and safer to make short explorations from your campsite.

If you have made sound preparations, your chances of surviving are far better, even if outside assistance becomes necessary. Those persons searching for your party will know where to try to find you.

Wrong to Exclude These Wedding Guests

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A month ago we received an invitation to a wedding in England. (We live in Maryland.) The groom has been a guest in our home on several occasions and we are friendly with his parents.

Yesterday we received word from the groom's mother saying that we would not be included in the very small family wedding group, but were expected at the reception, and she hopes that we will "understand."

We were terribly hurt and do NOT "understand." We are on a retirement income, and would not consider making such a costly trip for a "reception" only. But if we were invited to the wedding, we would gladly go.

I have already written to tell them that "something has developed" that may prevent us from making the trip, in order to leave it open for the moment.

Are we wrong to feel as we do? What would you do?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: I would write to the groom (leave his mother out of it) and tell him that it is customary to invite out-of-town guests to the ceremony, and unless you are included, you must decline. Period.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that you or one of your readers may be able to help me with. I own several ranches in the Wyoming-Colorado area, and when I meet a city person for the first time and he learns that I'm in ranching, he invariably asks, "How many acres do you have?"

Abby, I consider this a very personal question. It would be like asking someone, "What is your net worth?" or "How much is in your bank account?"

I realize that they mean no harm, and are just trying to make conversation, but I also feel that how many acres I have is none of their business.

Can you (or one of your readers) suggest an answer that wouldn't hurt their feelings, and at the same time wouldn't give them any information about the size of my operation?

RANCHER

DEAR RANCHER: Any evasive response will do, provided it's given in a friendly, good-humored tone. (a) "Too many." (b) "Not enough." (c) "All I can handle."

DEAR ABBY: I have three healthy, wonderful daughters, ages 7, 5 and 3, and they are all beautiful in my eyes. However, the eldest is an exceptionally attractive child with a head full of golden curls, enormous brown eyes and long dark lashes. I know she's pretty, and so does she, and so do her sisters, who happen to be very plain.

My problem, Abby, is the well-meaning idiot who stops me in the supermarket when I am with all three and says, "My, what a GORGEOUS child! She should be in the movies!" Or, "Wow, what a heartbreaker that blonde will be when she grows up!" (She is 7, and she's already asking me when she is going to start breaking hearts!)

Please comment about people who fuss over one child in the presence of brothers and sisters. It makes it so hard on the others.

Any suggestions on how to handle these idiots? I'm sure other mothers have to deal with it, too.

MIDWEST MOM

DEAR MOM: There is no help for the idiot. You can only try to shut him up by signaling with your face or hand—or your foot, if necessary. But I'll print this in the hope that well-meaning but thoughtless strangers who are overwhelmed by the beauty of a child will think twice before they speak.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

PARKER BOY

Mr. and Mrs. Billy T. Parker of Lake City, S.C., are the parents of a baby boy, David Andrew, weighing seven pounds four ounces, born on Tuesday, Feb. 7, at the McLeod Hospital, Lake City.

The father is employed at G.B.F.J., Lake City. The mother, the former Karen Butler, is a teacher at J.C. Lynch School System C Award, S.C., and is presently on a temporary leave of absence.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker of Murray and Mr. and Mrs. James Butler of Tampa, Fla. Great grandmothers are Mrs. Mary Butler and Mrs. Mamie Huelzel of Tampa, Fla.

LOST WAGES

Arthritis costs the nation's work force more than $3.5 billion annually in lost wages due to activity limitations and inability to be employed, says the Arthritis Foundation.

Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Robertson

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Robertson of Mayfield Route Seven celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a dinner given in their honor by their daughters. They were married March 11, 1928, just south of Hazel across the Kentucky-Tennessee state line.

Mrs. Robertson is the former Lettie Adams, daughter of the late Lon Adams and Mrs. Effie Morgan Adams of the Westview Nursing Home, Murray. Mr. Robertson is the son of the late Clifton Robertson and Mrs. Lula Cherry Robertson, also of the Westview Nursing Home.

They have three daughters who are Mrs. Willie Mae Downs of Coldwater, Mrs. Linda Fay Jones and Miss Brenda Kay Robertson, Mayfield Route Seven. One son, Gene Terry Robertson, died in June 1953. They have four grandchildren.

Davis' Home Scene Of Meeting Of New Concord Homemakers Club

Mrs. Ed Davis was hostess for the meeting of the New Concord Homemakers Club held on Wednesday, March 8, at one p.m. at her home with the president, Mrs. Charlie Stubblefield, presiding.

"Sewing Special Fabrics" was the lesson from February presented by Mrs. Curtice Cook who said the look for spring is long, lean and clingy, no muss, no fuss, and no press but luxurious, altogether different fabrics, fluid crepes, supple jersey, and knits.

The March lesson on "Home Furnishings and Fabrics" was presented by Mrs. Virginia Burnham who said quality is more important than quantity; fewer is the word, fewer tables, fewer lamps and accessories, just fewer of everything, but be sure each object adds character to the room.

The leader said colors should also reflect nature mauve, peach, misty green, and blue as well as pink and salmon—let more sunshine in the room either real or artificial. She also handed out lesson sheets on home furnishings fabrics and what to look for in shopping.

Mrs. Davis gave the devotion reading "Praise Of A Worthy Woman." The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. Mrs. Effie Edwards gave the minutes and financial report. Mrs. Rainey Lovins conducted the recreation. The hostess, Mrs. Davis, served refreshments buffet style to ten members and two visitors. Mrs. Bertha Emerson and Mrs. Mary Boggess.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 12.

Legislative Assessment

FRANKFORT — Trying to get an assessment of the legislative session as it would have last week was an impossible task if you tried to be accurate about it.

The final assessment won't come until about 10 days after the session ends and Governor Julian Carroll has approved or vetoed the bills given final approval in the last week.

There just weren't many bills of great importance to the average citizen.

Emotional issues occupied an inordinate amount of time of the lawmakers. Some of these were being fought up to the final minutes before adjournment. Among these were professional negotiation for teachers, an attempt to rescind the Equal Rights Amendment that was passed in the 1972 session. Abortion played an emotional role as well private church schools seeking special legislation to let them be free agents and not controlled by state regulations.

The $7.5 billion budget approved by the Senate last week had something in it for everybody while at the same time reaching into every taxpayer's pocket.

One of the final revenue raising thrusts was doubling the price of birth and death certificates that is estimated to raise $700,000 per year.

Other than the budget, the most significant legislation passed dealt with education.

Teachers will get pay increases and more funds are provided for capital improvements and for operating expenses in an effort to keep up with inflation. A testing program is an effort to judge the quality of education the children are getting. Fundamentals have given away to frills. At least that's the argument of some people.

As was expected, coal was laden with more taxes in that the tax was extended to processing which is expected to raise several more million. Strip mine legislation was another problem for the lawmakers and there was still some argument that a special session of the legislature may have to be called to get the state in line with final federal regulations when they come out in August.

This session wasn't without its quirks. The lawmakers repealed the mandatory automobile inspection law and made it permissible with a bonus in insurance rate reduction for those who do have their car inspected.

Fees all up and down the line, including police fine were increased. One legislator quipped, "If there's a fee that wasn't increased this session, it was an oversight."

A Housing bill finally got through, but not until it was watered down some to accommodate farmers and some others who thought their rights were being invaded by tough building codes.

Workmen's compensation insurance remained as one of the most controversial issues right up to the final gavel.

Business interests succeeded in pushing some amendments through on workmen's compensation the week before the session closed, but amendments on other bills were popping up that could change this.

The governor has threatened to veto the passed bill because he said he had made a commitment to labor not to decrease benefits. The approved bill limits to 10 years the length of time an injured worker can draw benefits. The amount of weekly pay was also reduced by amendment.

One thing certain is that costs are going up for the taxpayers.

Bill Creates New Dept. Of Education

FROM THE Congressional Record

REP. CARL D. PURSELL (Mich.) "I have today introduced legislation (H.R. 111910) to create a new Department of Education in the executive branch of the Federal Government. I am very encouraged by the fact that during the Presidential campaign and again recently President Carter indicated his support for a similar proposal.

"My proposal; would include within a single department all of those functions now located in the Education Division of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Those units include the U.S. Office of Education, the National Institute of Education, the National Center for Educational Statistics, and the Fund for the Improvement of Post secondary Education.

"Included is the transfer of job training and related programs from the Department of Labor is the transfer of the Public Service Employment program under title II of CETA.

"In addition to these Labor Department functions, I am proposing that the new department also include the activities of the Office of Child Development located in HEW, including the Head Start program, the graduate school program of the Dept. of Agriculture, the college housing program located in the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Indian education programs administered by the Bureau of Indian Affairs in the Department of the Interior, the National Science Foundation for the Arts, the National Foundation for the Humanities, the Harry S. Truman Memorial Scholarship Foundation, and those programs of the State Department (principally academic exchanges with other nations) operated by the Bureau of the Educational and Cultural Affairs.

"I believe the legislation which I propose contains many provisions which President Carter may wish to examine further in his review of the reorganization of the Federal Government.

"I am hopeful that the Committee on Government Operations will move expeditiously to the consideration of this bill, and I invite my colleagues to join me as cosponsors of this measure."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

The Consumer Protection Agency bill was killed because the taxpayers resisted another layer of bureaucrats. Opponents of the new Department of Education are of the opinion the education lobby, not the students, would benefit most.

Bible Thought

And they sang a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred and tongue, and people, and nation." Revelation 5:9

So much of our singing is subjective; the song of the redeemed saints in heaven had only praise to Jesus. How worthy He is of our praises!

Garrott's Galley

By M. C. Garrott

Give Him An Acre Of Ground And He Could Feed The World

Give Hardin Morris an acre of ground and I believe he could feed the world.

For several years now, I've watched his little gardens grow as I passed his place on the corner of South 16th and Cardinal Drive. He has two of them. One is about 40 feet square; the other about 15 feet wide and 50 feet long. The latter is virtually a gravel bed, but it is amazing what he coaxes from it in the way of fresh vegetables.

Like all our area gardeners, Mr. Morris is late in getting his rows planted this year because of the severe winter we've had and all the recent, heavy rains. Usually by now he already had his English peas planted and his potatoes ready for the ground, but when I stopped to visit with him the other day, he surprised me by saying that he just might not have any more gardens — at least, not at that location.

He's selling his place and moving in with his son, Graves, and his family over on Audabon Drive.

A new floor has gone down in his kitchen and family room, and some painting has been done. The place soon will be ready to sell.

"Whoever gets it will have a garden ready to go, though," he said rather sadly as we stood in a sharp wind at one end of the muddy rows, some with water standing. "It's all ridged up, and the ridges have been full of manure since last fall. All that is needed is to break up the middles and run over the ridges with a rota-tiller. Sprinkle a little fertilizer on it and it'll be ready to plant."

He's not going to let the two plots lie idle, however. "If I don't sell the place pretty quick, I'm going to put the garden in anyway," he smiled.

A tall, wiry man and extremely active for his 76 years, Mr. Morris has lived in only two places in his lifetime. Until 10 years ago, when he moved to Murray, he and his wife had lived on the 60-acre farm east of town where he was born and grew up, the son of the late George and Alice Morris. It's about 10 miles out and just off U. S. 94.

Mrs. Morris, the former Juell Ward, died in 1974, and since then he has lived alone. They had been married 52 years. Besides Graves, who is in the used car business, they had a daughter, Mary Dale, who died at the age of two, a victim of meningitis.

Before moving to Murray, Mr. Morris worked in several areas, but prides himself in the fact that he "helped build every bridge between Murray and Jonathan Creek." A carpenter, he built forms for concrete for a private contractor.

He also farmed some, painted some and spent 17 years with the Hilton-Hughes Paint Store on Maple Street before retiring, selling the farm and moving to Murray, where golf and gardening have since been his principal past-times.

You wouldn't believe the crops of beans, corn, radishes, lettuce, potatoes, onions and other vegetables he raises on the two little garden plots. He always gets two crops a year off them, and both his and Graves and Sue's freezers are chucked full of frozen vegetables put up last year and the year before. His tomatoes grow in a former flower bed beside the carport. "I'd rather see tomatoes growing there than simply flowers," he chuckled.

"Usually I have English peas planted by the last week in February," he said, "and I'd have my potatoes in by March 15, but this year it is too wet to even walk in there yet. It'll be late if I get to put anything in at all this year."

Although he has lived alone for almost four years now, Mr. Morris has adjusted to that life style by keeping busy. He enjoys playing golf and plays a lot of it at the Oaks Country Club, where he is a member. He gets regular exercise by walking about the course, a practice that keeps him well supplied with good balls for his playing.

"Winter is my bad time," he said with a smile. "I can't get out in the bad weather and get my exercise. So, I just sit here and watch the old TV."

An avid sports fan, Mr. Morris has long followed Murray State football and basketball. For many years, he and Mrs. Morris held reserved chair seats in the Fieldhouse, but these have now been passed along to Graves and Sue and John Mark, his nine-year-old grandson.

He remembers Ron Greene as a player and is happy to see him return to the campus as the Racers' new head coach. "He was a good one," he said, recalling a long list of standouts like Bennie Purcell, Garrett Bashear, Howie Crittenden and others.

I'm going to miss seeing Mr. Morris in his gardens as I go to and come home from work. Almost every evening he would be out there with his hoe or rota-tiller, hard at it. He'll be busy in another part of town, mowing or raising a few vegetables over on Audabon.

"You can do a lot with a little lime, a little fertilizer and some manure," he said, picking up a muddy clod, "but you've got to work it. A garden won't make by itself, but give old Mother Earth a little help and some tender care and she won't leave you hungry when the snow flies."

That should tell us something, especially this year.

Business Mirror Open Door Policy Reaping Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — The open-door policy of the United States toward investments from abroad already is reaping large dividends. But even bigger and better benefits may be in the offing.

In the past five years, direct foreign investments in this country have more than doubled to $30 billion, according to a new report compiled by Bank of America, the San Francisco based institution that is the nation's largest commercial bank.

Some of the recent activities have included the $210 million purchase by Societe Imetal of France of a 67 percent stake in Pittsburgh's Copperweld Corp.; Michelin Tire Corp. of France's announced plans to invest $300 million to expand tire production; and Sandoz Ltd. of Switzerland's $190 million acquisition of Northrup King & Co., a Minneapolis agricultural chemical producer.

Of the $30 billion invested in 1976, about 41.6 percent was concentrated in manufacturing, the report said, and nearly 20 percent was invested in petroleum operations. The largest investors were the Netherlands, Canada and the United Kingdom, each with roughly one-fifth of the total.

Though the growth has been substantial, there appears to be a great deal of room left for future investments. Foreign-owned businesses accounted for less than 2 percent of the United States' gross national product in 1976, according to a study by The Conference Board, a New York business-research firm.

Bank of America cites three reasons for this rather modest showing. "Companies based abroad frequently have cited labor costs, taxes, and the sheer size of the U.S. market economy as factors that have restrained them from pursuing the advantages of direct investment here," the report states.

These disadvantages have leveled off in recent years, the bank says, leading to the conclusion that investments will continue to increase, possibly at a faster pace. In addition, it says, the United States will be aided by two other factors:

—More earnings for investments are being generated by continued economic recovery abroad.

—Merger activity has grown sharply in both Europe and Japan, thus creating companies that have both the financial expertise and capital to invest in the United States.

Though the impact of the investment has been relatively modest, the report says that the United States already has benefited in a variety of ways, including:

—The creation of about 1.1 million U.S. jobs and $11.4 billion in additional wages by the end of 1974.

—The generating of technological and product improvements helped along by new methods and processes from abroad.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, March 21, the 80th day of 1978. There are 285 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1829, an earthquake in Spain killed some 6,000 people.

On this date: In 1685, composer Johann Sebastian Bach was born in Germany.

In 1790, Thomas Jefferson became the first U.S. secretary of state.

In 1803, the French civil code, the Code Napoleon, was completed.

In 1891, a marriage in Kentucky ended the feud between the Hatfields and McCoys.

In 1918, in World War I, German guns bombarded Paris from 75 miles away.

In 1972, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states may not set one-year residence as a requirement for voting.

Ten years ago: New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said he was withdrawing unequivocally from any race for the Republican nomination for president.

Five years ago: The United States vetoed a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for a Panama Canal settlement, terming the U.N. action outside pressure on bilateral negotiations between the U.S. and Panama.

One year ago: Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi resigned after her Congress Party lost in parliamentary elections.

Today's birthday: John D. Rockefeller III is 72.

Thought for today: The art of showmanship is to give the public what it wants just before it knows what it wants. —David Belasco, American playwright and producer, 1854-1931.

Isn't It The Truth

Political organizations getting ready for the 1978 elections, are packed with campaign workers who don't understand the Democrats and party workers who don't understand the Republicans. Neither does anybody else.

Here's How Making the Best of a Household Move

CHICAGO (AP) — Executive moves jumped more than 40 percent in 1977 over 1976, according to a report prepared by a home referral service.

Such sudden moves often bring emotional upheaval as families are forced to leave familiar communities and friends, reports RELO — Inter-City Relocation Service, a nationwide network of real estate firms.

Nearly 35 million Americans moved to new homes in the year ending March 1976 — 13 million to new counties or new states, the latest U. S. Census figures indicate. For individuals of labor force age, two-thirds of all intercounty and interstate moves every year are job-related, RELO notes.

"A corporate move is often easier for the husband than for the wife," says Sidney J. Levy, professor of behavioral science in management at Northwestern University. "He is frequently welcomed into his new position by a scout whose job it is to familiarize him with the community and the company."

"The wife, however, must be her own scout. She has to begin all over again — locating stores and services, doctors and dentist and, most importantly, people."

Anyone who has made a long distance move knows the feelings of depression, panic, frustration and fatigue which seem to begin before the van is even packed and out of the driveway, the professor points out.

These feelings are uncomfortable, but they are part and parcel of moving, says Levy, who relates these emotions to the trauma of change.

"When you leave a familiar community and living pattern, it becomes necessary to think about every detail. Each effort requires a major decision. The result is an energy drain," he says.

Although relocation is never easy, it need not produce total shock and inertia, adds Levy, who suggests the whole family should be involved in learning projects about the community before moving. RELO brokers, who specialize in relocation moves, offer some tips for corporate personnel being transferred or moving to a new job:

—Subscribe to the local newspaper.

—Wander through the city's Yellow Pages. These can provide ideas about the community's shops and services.

—A local street guide or road map will help orient the family to its new surroundings.

—A copy of the high school yearbook will help teenagers "meet" some of their new friends.

—Talk with the librarian at the local public library. The library is an excellent source for information — about schools, transportation and community services.

—Make a list of all the services you take for granted in your present community — from shoe repairs to doctors.

Make a habit of asking everyone you meet in a new community about resources for services you can check out.

—Once you've selected your new house, plan a relaxed, fun weekend for the whole family, to orient yourselves to your new hometown. Explore the parks, use the tennis courts, tee off at the local golf course and get to know some of the shopkeepers whom you'll be needing once you move into town.

The more decisions you recognize have to be made when you move, the more prepared you'll be to find the climate, the services, the neighbors and the facilities you'll be comfortable with, Levy notes.

"Moving is not a simple task, of course," he says, "but the quicker one takes action on re-establishing routine and making person-to-person contacts, the easier the adjustment."

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q — You recently wrote about the effect of roof colors on the apparent size and shape of a house. Can you do the same thing for me on resilient floor tiles, which I expect to install on two floors of our house in the near future? I haven't quite made up my mind which type of tiles to get, but what I am interested in is getting the right colors. One of the rooms to be tiled is a kitchen, one a bedroom.

A. — No matter what you read here or anywhere else, your own individual taste should play a part in the selection of colors. It is true that tests have shown that the colors of floor materials can have a bearing on the moods of people, but even in these tests, there have been exceptions to the general findings. Having given you that preliminary information, here is what is generally believed about floor colors: Dark colors absorb light, making things look smaller and heavier, but they can be depressing when used extensively. Light colors reflect more light and so make things seem larger than they are. They also make things appear farther away. The so-called warm colors are reds, pinks, oranges, corals, golds, yellows and yellow-greens. The cold colors are blues, blue-greens, blue-grays and violets. When making a choice, remember that the color you select will seem stronger when applied to a large surface. In a kitchen, try to use a tile that will make the room cheerful. In a bedroom, choose something that will enhance and blend with the decor of the room. Avoid garishness, but don't avoid it so much that you wind up with drabness.

Q — We are moving into a new house shortly. It has wide overhangs, but no gutters and downspouts. I notice that many of the other custom-built houses in the same neighborhood have gutters and downspouts. Our builder said they aren't necessary when the overhangs are wide. Is this true?

A. — Wide overhangs help to drop the water from the roof a bit away from the foundation, but there is more to good drainage than that. Some of the factors controlling the flow of water away from the house and the prevention of water inside the house are land that slopes away from the foundation, the water table in your area, the installation of drainage tiles at the bottom of the foundation where required and the type of foundation. Have you tried asking some of your future neighbors whether they think their houses need the gutters and downspouts and — very important — whether they had to have them installed after they moved in?

Q — The brass doorknobs on the doors of our house are getting a little tarnished. The tarnish seems to come off readily enough when the knobs are polished, but isn't there some way to refinish the knobs so that constant polishing isn't necessary?

A. — The standard finishing material for brass doorknobs is lacquer. Rub the knobs vigorously with a cloth dampened with lacquer thinner, being sure there is plenty of ventilation as you work. Then coat the knobs with a mixture of 50 percent clear lacquer and 50 percent lacquer thinner. Put on three coats. However, it's still a good idea to take a dry cloth and wipe the knobs every few months.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS COMPACT two-bedroom, one-bath retirement house was designed specifically for waterfront living. Plan HA1031R by Jan Reimer offers 1,010 square feet of living space, excluding the porch and carport. This slab-on-grade, concrete block construction requires a lot that is at least 60 feet by 100 feet. Things you might want to know about the care of aluminum:

When the inside of an aluminum pot gets blackish, as it sometimes does after boiling water or cooking certain foods, the discoloration will not harm either the food or the pot. While the color will come out the first time you use the pot to cook acid fruits or vegetables, such as tomatoes, rhubarb or sauerkraut, the appearance of the pot may bother you. In that case, remove the discoloration by boiling a solution of two tablespoons of cream of tartar to each quart of water the utensil holds. To restore the polish, rub with a steel wool pad.

The pitting of aluminum pots and pans can be avoided by not leaving foods (especially those that are highly seasoned) in them for long periods. But if you should do so, the foods will not be harmed.

Aluminum exposed to the elements can be cleaned with a mild soap or detergent, followed by a thorough rinsing and wiping.

For removing medium grime deposits from the surface of outside aluminum, use an abrasive wax applied with a clean soft rag or pad.

Solvents and stronger cleaning agents should not be used on painted aluminum siding, which should be cleaned with water alone or with water and a mild soap.

Aluminum screens are cleaned by rubbing with a stiff brush and washing down with a hose and detergent. While an aluminum boat doesn't need paint to protect it from either fresh or salt water, some persons paint it for appearance's sake or to keep it from fouling. Be sure to get a paint made especially for application on aluminum. Do not use a mercury, arsenic or copper-based anti-fouling paint.

When aluminum and a dissimilar metal are immersed in water, an electrolytic cell is formed that accelerates corrosion. Therefore, don't leave iron parts and pieces of copper wire in the bilge and bottom of the boat. And be sure no dissimilar metal is fastened to the hull below the waterline.

The painted aluminum parts of a camper or mobile home should be cleaned with water and a mild cleaner. Waxing will make cleaning easier. Use the same cleaner or wax as for your car.

Avoid cleaning aluminum that is hot to the touch or when the temperature is below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Cleaners work too aggressively when it's hot and very poorly when it's cold.

Bill Baldridge: He Wants To Have Blue-Chippers At Murray

By MIKE BRANDON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor

There are some folks who have chips on their shoulders. Bill Baldridge wants a chip on his hands, or should we say, a blue-chipper in his hands.

Baldridge has been one of the assistant football coaches at Murray State University for only two months but he's put in enough leg work, he probably feels he's been here two years.

And though Baldridge is quite happy with what Mike Gottfried and his staff have signed, they didn't necessarily want to go to the places they went to get them.

"I enjoy recruiting. That was one of my big responsibilities at Georgetown and Morehead. Primarily, I'm working the northern Kentucky and Cincinnati-Dayton area," Baldridge said.

"But the biggest disappointment to me is some people think of us as second class. We have to have the blue-chippers and we want the ones from this area.

"Everybody will back a winner but before you become a winner, you have to get some blue-chippers and we want the blue-chippers from here because more people are going to be interested in them. We want the best people in Paducah, Mayfield and all over our area.

"People always give us help on what I call marginal players but they just won't give us that much help on the blue-chippers. And with the four classifications, it seems like just about everybody today is a member of some All-State team.

"Sometimes it's hard to tell people why you're not going to sign an All-State kid. We can get blue-chippers from other places but the thing is, people don't know anything about them.

"But if we get the bluechippers from around here, then people immediately recognize them. It's just going to take a little time. We're going to have to win back over some of our graduates," Baldridge added.

One place where Baldridge can get the blue-chippers is Ohio. His brother is an assistant football coach and the head track coach in Bill's hometown of Shelby.

"That's a long way from here but if we can get the blue-chippers up there then get the program rolling, then we can get regional blue-chippers," Baldridge said.

Shelby is not a strange place to Murray. In fact, it produced one blue-chipper who just happened to be the first person to gain 1,000 yards in a season for the Racers. Rick Fisher.

Baldridge, whose father died at a very early age, grew up in a family of five children. He has three older sisters and a younger brother.

Baldridge was the All-American type kid in school. He lettered in everything there was to get a letter in during his high school career.

As a senior in high school, he was All-Conference in football and basketball, was third in the conference low and high hurdles and batted .364 for the baseball team. Believe it or not, he was captain of all four teams.

About five miles down the road from Shelby is Crestline and that's where Mike Gottfried grew up.

"Mike didn't have a father either and we grew up riding bikes and playing ball together," Baldridge said.

"He was the quarterback for his high school team and I was the quarterback for my high school team. But we never played a football game against each other because we were in different conferences.

"But we always talked with each other before the games and wished each other good luck. When Mike was recruited by Morehead, he became my press agent. And the following year, Morehead recruited me."

Recruited as a fullback, Baldridge was redshirted his first year at Morehead in 1963 but after that, started four years at defensive end and was second team, All-OVC during his final two seasons. As a senior, he suffered a broken wrist and missed four games.

In January after his senior season, he was drafted by the Army but discovered he could avoid having to enter the service by taking a job at Bath County High School.

It turned out Baldridge made a fine decision. His Bath County team won its conference title two consecutive seasons and at the end of the second year, he left and took the head coaching job at Harrodsburg.

Baldridge enjoyed tremendous success at Harrodsburg. His team finished second in the Kentucky state playoffs one season and in two other years, were knocked out of the playoffs by eventual state champs Trigg County.

After the 1972 season, Baldridge went to Georgetown College where he was the defensive coordinator for two years then on to Morehead for a year where he was the defensive secondary coach.

In the fall of 1976, Baldridge accepted the head coaching post at Bellvue High School. His first team was second in the Kentucky Class A state title game but last fall's team won the state championship.

At Murray, Baldridge will be working with the defensive nose guards and the tackles.

"There's been some adjustment to make since returning to college. When I came here, the players looked huge compared to high school teams where you play with 190-pound linebackers but you're not going to win with them in college ball.

"My philosophy of coaching is based on my life. I received my Bachelor's and Master's Degrees and they never cost me a dime. Football has been good to me and I want to make it good for somebody else," Baldridge said.

Bill and his wife, Janie, have a daughter, 2½-year-old Beth and they're due for another child in November.

Janie had lived in Bowling Green until her senior year when she moved to Morehead and met her in college there.

We were married after my first year out of school.

"We've been married nine years and she's taught school every year except the one she was pregnant.

"I don't think we've ever been to a place as friendly as Murray. I know one of these days we have to kick the ball off but so far, everyone's been super in helping us find a house and getting settled down," Baldridge added.

Lemons Bemoans High Prices As Texas Prepares For Finale

NEW YORK (AP) — Texas Coach Abe Lemons may be the king of the college basketball jokers, but everyone knows the kidding stops at the opening tipoff.

It'll be no different tonight when the jovial coach sends his Longhorns into the National Invitation Tournament final against North Carolina State.

Lemons spent part of Monday entertaining the media at the NIT luncheon, bemoaning New York prices, poking fun of his coaching ability and absolutely refusing to pay attention — outwardly, anyway — to the Longhorns' bid for the title of the 41st NIT.

"I just came from breakfast and I had a couple of eggs that cost $4.95," said Lemons. "I asked to see the chicken. Where I come from, I never saw a chicken that could lay eggs worth $4.95.

"That's more amazing than this game."

Yes, just another game for Lemons and his 23-5 Longhorns. He doesn't know what to expect from the 21-9 Wolfpack and doesn't seem to care much.

"I never scout an opponent," he said. "How smart can I be? I've never written a book."

The Wolfpack enters the final showdown still talking about the last-second 40-foot shot that Clyde Austin sank in overtime to give North Carolina State its dramatic 86-85 triumph over Georgetown in the semifinals Sunday.

"When that shot went in, I tore up my notes," said Lemons, who admitted in the next sentence that he really hadn't kept any on the Hoyas and it wouldn't have mattered if he had.

"Very frankly," he said, "coaches don't contribute that much to a team's success. If you've got self-motivated people that are talented, that's all you need."

If it's any comfort to Lemons, the season will be over by this time tomorrow. The NIT title will have been decided — not by one-liners, but by action.

And the Wolfpack presents a very real threat. North Carolina State, with 7-foot-2 Glenn Sudhop and 6-8 Tiny Pinder up front, will have a definite edge in height.

But they all pay the same price for breakfast.

To Protest Tourney

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Thailand may pull out of the Asian golf circuit next year in protest over the new dates allotted for the Thai Open, golf officials said today.

The secretary of the Asian Golf Confederation (AGC), Edmund Yong, said the Thais are unhappy that they had been dropped from the third to the fifth leg on next year's circuit.

"They didn't agree to the championship dates of March 15 to 18 because it will be very hot in Thailand during this period," said Yong.

Singapore has been promoted to third spot next year.

Pacers Romp 'Cavs As Four Combine To Net 102 Points

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Cavaliers basketball Coach Bill Fitch called his team's 127-104 loss to the Indiana Pacers "atrocious," but the Indiana coach said he would like to have 60 nights like it.

Fitch said he does not know how the team will pull itself out of the "bottom of the pit" to get back into the playoff race.

"We couldn't even make a layup in the end of the game," he said.

Four Indiana starters combined for 102 points to lead the team to the victory Monday night.

Pacer Ricky Sobers scored 29 points, James Edwards scored 25 and Dan Roundfield and Mike Bantom each had 24 points to give the Pacers their eighth road win of the season to go with their 27 losses.

"I can't play guys like we did tonight through the whole National Basketball Association season," said Indiana Coach Bob Leonard. "But when I go to my bench, I get hurt."

Indiana jumped out front early in the game and the Cavaliers never could quite catch them. Cleveland players only made 35 percent of their shots from the field in the first half, compared to 53 percent for the Pacers.

Bantom scored 16 first-half points to give the Pacers a 55-48 lead at intermission. Sobers took command in the second half, scoring 19 points.

Cleveland pulled to within two points, 66-64, with 5:17 to play in the third quarter on a jump shot by Elmore Smith. But Indiana outscored the Cavs 18-10 for the remainder of the quarter to take an 84-74 lead into the final period.

Smith led the Cavaliers in scoring with 22 points and Campy Russell and Austin Carr each scored 18 points.

Apollo-Shelby County Winner State Champ?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The experts say that the winner of the first round game between top-ranked and unbeaten Owensboro Apollo and No. 2 Shelby County will win the 61st Kentucky High School Basketball Tournament that begins Wednesday.

And there's a few who think that Covington Holmes, whose 31-2 record is the best of the eight teams in the upper bracket, might have what it takes to win the title.

But hardly anyone is paying attention to the other 13 teams who qualified for the annual shootout that has held the public fancy since 1918.

What about Christian County, 23-5, which opens the tournament Wednesday afternoon at 1 p.m. against Knott Central? After all, Christian County came from nowhere to land a spot in the 1976 state finals.

And how about Virgie, which brings a 27-3 record and a unique identification problem (three starters with the last name of Newsome) to Louisville? The Eagles meet Louisville Ahrens, 22-7, in a first round game Wednesday afternoon.

There are tradition-laden teams such as Ashland, a fourtime state champion making its 25th appearance in the Sweet Sixteen, and strangers like Mayfield, 22-5, which earned its first trip in 14 years. Bowling Green, 21-8, comes to the state tournament for the first time under third-year Coach Bobby Hoggard, while Elizabethtown, 16-8, will be making the last of five trips to the big show under Ray Vencill, who is retiring after 16 years.

Whether any of the above teams, or some other club, rises to swat a favorite will be decided beginning with Wednesday afternoon's doubleheader.

After the Knott Central-Christian County and Virgie-Ahrens get the ball rolling, a doubleheader Wednesday night will complete upper bracket play. Maysville, 20-8, meets Bowling Green and Holmes meets Ashland in that pair of games.

Thursday's first round action features Lexington Henry Clay, 27-6, against Somerset, 20-7, in an afternoon game. In the other game, thanks to the quirks of the draw, Apollo and Shelby County will tangle.

In the Thursday night session, Mayfield meets Clay County, 29-4, and Elizabethtown, 16-8, opposes Louisville Central 20-6.

The quarterfinals will be held Friday afternoon and evening, the semifinals Saturday morning and the championship game Saturday night.

Murray Attorney To Speak For Hazel Senior Citizens

Murray attorney, J. William Phillips, will be the featured speaker at the Wednesday noon luncheon meeting of the Hazel Senior Citizens to be held at the Hazel Community Center. Phillips will speak on the subject of "Wills, Estates and Probate."

Phillips has spoken before numerous local groups and discussed legal issues and legislation on the radio as they relate to area citizens. He has also spoken at the University of Kentucky on Legal Problems of Senior Citizens, was a consultant to the State Commission on Kentucky Municipal Statute Revision, and is the City Attorney for Murray.

As a member of the ABA Committees on Social Services and Health Law, Bill Phillips has stated: "Legislation is generally accompanied by a report of its financial impact on taxpayers. Of equal importance is its impact upon the well-being of senior citizens and upon Christian doctrine. The political power of the elderly has yet to be appreciated by our legislators."

Phillips is a native of Calloway County and has been engaged in the general practice of law for the past 15 years.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing

Chicago, Ill. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltope. A non-operating aid of the smallest Beltope aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 5800, Beltope Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Illinois 60646.

Some Assembly Measures Are Questionable Constitutionally

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Some of the legislation enacted by the 1978 General Assembly was of questionable constitutionality and appears to be destined for court tests.

One such measure — acknowledged as questionable by its sponsors — would provide free textbooks to private school students.

As a concession to those who warned that the measure was unconstitutional, the appropriation for textbook purchases by the state was slashed from more than $1 million to $25,000.

The legislation was backed by lawmakers who said private schools provide a public service by educating children who would otherwise be educated at public expense, thereby driving taxes up.

Another bill of questionable constitutionality would require the Ten Commandments to be posted in classrooms of Kentucky schools.

Mayor Henley Will Be On "Mailbag"

People with questions or complaints for Mayor Melvin Henley can now get a verbal reply. Starting today, Mayor Henley will be a guest each Tuesday at 5:00 p.m. on the Channel 11 Focus program.

During his appearances Henley will be discussing problems in Murray such as tonight's topic, the road conditions left by winter weather and monetary aid from the state for road improvements.

Questions or complaints from citizens of Murray will be posed to the Mayor during the program. People with questions may write: Mayor's Mailbag, MSU-TV 11, Box 3222 University Station, Murray, Ky.

Phone calls at 762-4661 will be accepted during Focus on Tuesdays.

MISS YOUR PAPER?

Subscribers who have not received their home-delivered copy of The Murray Ledger & Times by 5:30 p.m. Monday-Friday or by 3:30 p.m. on Saturdays are urged to call 753-1916 between 5:30 p.m. and 6 p.m., Monday-Friday, or 3:30 p.m. and 4 p.m. Saturdays, to insure delivery of the newspaper. Calls must be placed by 6 p.m. weekdays or 4 p.m. Saturdays to guarantee delivery.

Opponents argued that the bill was a clear violation of the principle of separation of church and state. But the sponsor, Rep. Claudia Riner, D-Louisville, obtained an attorney general's opinion saying that the postings are legal.

The posters will be 16-by-20 inches and will contain fine print below the last Commandment stating:

"The secular application of the Ten Commandments is clearly seen in its adoption as the fundamental legal code of Western Civilization and the Common Law of the United States."

Another constitutional question that seems headed for resolution in federal court is the Legislature's rescission of Kentucky's approval of the Equal Rights Amendment.

It's doubtful that the rescission message will have any effect, since Congress has not heeded similar messages from other states.

But Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall, acting as governor, vetoed the rescission Monday. She asserted the General Assembly acted illegally. It

UCM Meet Wednesday

Although the United Campus Ministry facility was heavily damaged by fire on March 8, the UCM Wednesday luncheon programs will continue to take place this semester. The new location for the 12:30 meal is the training (banquet room) in the Winslow cafeteria on the Murray State campus.

Participants will go through the regular cafeteria line for the meal itself and will then gather in the training room to eat and listen to the presentation.

The March 22 program will feature Dr. Donald Betz, keynote speaker for the honor society council symposium which takes place all day on Wednesday. "Higher Education in Communist Countries: A Comparative Study of Cuba" will be his topic. Betz, a political scientist specializing in international affairs, teaches at Northeast Oklahoma State University.

For further information come by the UCM office, temporarily located in Room 201, Ordway Hall, or call old UCM number, 753-3531.

has not been determined whether her veto will have any effect.

The General Assembly sent another message to Congress that could affect the Constitution, this one calling for a constitutional convention to enact a pro-life amendment.

Kentucky's resolution asks Congress to enact a constitutional amendment guaranteeing the right to life of the unborn.

Opponents warned that the resolution could pave the way for an open convention at which the Constitution would be torn up.

Several other bills which raised constitutional questions failed to make it through the legislative maze, including a measure to forbid television broadcasting of matter harmful to children; a bill to ban the display or sale of material harmful to children in groceries or drugstores or other places where children are likely to see it, and a measure to require written consent by parents or guardians for abortion of a minor.

The Legislature also passed bills affecting the state Constitution.

Several measures which would increase the state's bonded indebtedness were challenged on grounds that they might obligate a future legislature to appropriate funds to pay off bonds if project revenues were insufficient.

However, supporters contended that bonds to finance the projects would be paid off through project revenues.

Mitchell To Testify In 'Koreagate' Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell is scheduled to tell congressmen what he knew of alleged South Korean influence buying in Congress and what he did about it.

Mitchell's scheduled public questioning by a House international relations subcommittee today is his first since he was sent to prison last year for his role in the Watergate coverup.

The subcommittee is also wants to hear testimony from former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., chairman of the subcommittee, said last week that unnamed Nixon cabinet officers had detailed intelligence reports by 197 on South Korean lobbying plans but took no effective action to stop them.

The subcommittee released a lengthy report Mitchell got June 8, 1971, on South Korean financing of Radio Free Asia that refers to Tongsun Park as a "middleman, influence peddler and lobbyist."

Cantata Will Be Presented By Choir Thursday

A musical setting of "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore Dubois will be presented by the Chancel Choir of the First United Methodist Church, Murray, on Thursday, March 23, at 7:00 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

Appearing as soloists with the choir will be Ms. Irma Collins, soprano; Tim Haskett, tenor; and Larrie Clark, baritone.

The Maundy-Thursday musical service will depict the drama and order of events leading up to the crucifixion as the words from the cross echo the bitter agony and suffering of Jesus, according to Prof. Paul W. Shahan, director.

The first word: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do" — followed by the "angry mob" shouting: "He is death-guilty; take him, take him, let us crucify him" is considered to be one of the most vivid musical settings in all of religious literature, the director said.

The composer, Theodore Dubois lived during a period when man's creative efforts were mainly dedicated and directed toward the church and the enhancement of worship. Thus his "Seven Last Words of Christ" has become a frequently performed cantata used to tell, in simple language, the happenings of Holy Week, said Shahan.

The Choir is directed by Shahan with Mrs. R. W. Farrell, organist. The spoken word will be by the Rev. Dr. James A. Fisher, minister.

The performance is open to all who want to attend this most significant musical event of Holy Week, Shahan said.

The report to Mitchell said: "We know for a fact that Park offered to contribute to the campaign funds of several congressmen — coincidentally just before a foreign aid appropriation bill" was submitted to the Hill — and have suspicions that he has been involved in many other irregularities as a lobbyist."

Mitchell had the FBI investigate but it found no grounds for action against Radio Free Asia. The FBI also said it found no evidence to support an intelligence report suggesting Tongsun Park was a South Korean agent.

Pockets $97,300

Uncle Sam Performs Local Magic Act

Performing his magic act, Uncle Sam was able to pocket an extra $97,300 or so in the past year at the expense of Calloway County residents.

It was accomplished by means of a coin trick that only the Government is at liberty to perform.

Involved was the distribution of coins bearing such markings as 50 cents, 25 cents, 10 cents, etc., with intrinsic metallic values that were far less than these amounts.

The difference between the face value of the coins minted in the fiscal year and their real, intrinsic value came to no less than $97,300 locally and $750 million nationally. The profit, which is called seigniorage, went directly into the general fund of the Treasury.

At one time, such coins had a content of about 90 percent silver and had actual values that were close to their designations. Now, however, they are made of copper, nickel and zinc, which are cheaper metals. About 84 percent of face value is saved through the switch-over.

The facts and figures on the production of new coins and the cost of the metals used in making them are revealed in the latest annual report of the Director of the Mint.

It shows that the Mint has had to if Kentucky motorists stay away in droves despite required renewals this spring.

"We realized that $2 could not adequately pay for a really good inspection job," Arnold said, echoing a complaint made frequently by owners of inspection stations.

The state supervised the program by skimming 25 cents from each $2 inspection payment.

Arnold said that when the representatives of the dealers association came to see him, they spoke of a 15-day boycott, but he said he doubts that ever got off the ground.

Storms Threaten Wrecked Oil Tanker Off French Coast

BREST, France (AP) — New storms threaten to break open the wrecked American supertanker Amoco Cadiz and spill the 29 million or more gallons of oil still aboard along the polluted Brittany coast.

More heavy weather was predicted as gale winds and high seas swept the vessel Monday, delaying a survey for underwater rocks so that a smaller tanker can get alongside to pump out the remaining oil.

Capt. Claude Phillips, marine transport manager for Amoco, said the operation is "completely subject to the weather. We cannot risk lives or ships out there."

Environmental experts said the rough weather could have a beneficial effect by moving the oil away from the coastline and helping to emulsify it, thus reducing the concentration, as has happened in some past spills.

The 1,067-foot tanker carried 67.6 million gallons of oil in 15 tanks when it ran on the rocks and broke in two in a storm Friday. Harry Rinkema, Amoco vice president for marine transport, said he was told there was "a huge slick, eight miles long and a mile wide, containing perhaps 50,000 to 60,000 tons of oil, floating out to sea in the English Channel."

That would be 14.7 million to 17.6 million gallons, or about 20 to 25 percent of the total aboard. Millions of gallons more have fouled the coastal fishing beds and some 80 miles of beaches along the Brittany peninsula.

Hundreds of fishermen kept ashore by the pollution of the lobster beds and fishing grounds handed in their licenses to reinforce their demands for immediate government compensation.

Local mayors prepared damage inventories for the government in Paris.

Five British ships experienced in treating oil slicks were en route to join 11 French navy ships spreading dispersants, detergents, chalk and absorbent plastic balls. Experts from the U.S. Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration arrived to give assistance.

Jehovah's Group To Hold Services On Thursday Evening

The Murray congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses announced today that they will celebrate the anniversary of the Lord's Evening Meal on March 23 at the Kingdom Hall located at North 18th Street and Utterback Road, Murray.

Garvin Doran, spokesman for the local group stated, "We do this annually in obedience to the command Jesus gave on the day of His death to 'Keep doing this in remembrance of me.'"

Jehovah's Witness and their friends world wide will assemble after sundown Thursday, March 23, which corresponds to the Bible's lunar calendar date of Nisan 14. All interested persons are invited to attend and share in a faith building Bible discussion, Doran said.

Jesse Stuart In Guarded Condition Today

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Noted Kentucky author Jesse Stuart was listed in guarded condition this morning at King's Daughters Hospital after suffering an apparent stroke over the weekend.

The hospital said that Stuart, 70, was admitted Saturday evening in critical condition. However, he has been removed from intensive care, the hospital said.

Stuart had been admitted to the same hospital in early December after being stricken with a heart attack, his seventh in recent years.
